2012 St. Petersburg Science Festival Exhibitor Registration Form

The St. Petersburg Science Festival, similar to other science festivals established throughout the country, is a fun-filled carnival for everyone to explore the wonders of science and technology and the many ways in which science influences art and our society. The Festival is not a Trade Show to solely display the products or activities of the exhibitor. All exhibits should be interactive and engage the public.

Our goals for the science festival: communicate the value of science and technology-related careers to adolescents, demonstrate how science is an economic engine for the Tampa Bay community and our nation and convey that our local scientists and festival participants are trusted resources who help individuals and civic leaders make informed, rational decisions.

Describe your proposed Festival activity in detail and how the public will interact with the activity.

Any safety issues to be considered? If so, please describe.

Every exhibitor will be provided with one (1) 8' table and two (2) chairs.

Does your exhibit need: Electricity Water

Anything else?

Will you need help setting up your exhibit? If so, please elaborate.

Please note: Vehicles will not be permitted to remain on the exhibit site during the event.

Are you planning to give a “take away” gift? If so, what is it?

The Festival does not want to duplicate your gift to festival visitors.

Exhibition space is limited. If exhibit proposals are judged to be equally deserving, preference will be given to the first applicant.

Thank you for your contribution to our community!
